The Bachelors' Ball

To the Editor:—

It was with a feeling of relief that I read "Bachelor's" letter in your last issue anent the Bachelors' Ball.

While admitting the fact that it was a duty which I owed to the subscribers to publish a statement of the funds received and expenditure of the same, I must protest against this bachelor making it appear the supposed irregularity was caused by my neglect. The reason of the statement not being published in the Call, was that, the Secretary for the previous year had never handed in his statement, and as several of the debts outstanding were last year's accounts, it was impossible for the committee to issue a correct statement. The statement above referred to, was just received on the 27th inst., after several attempts to procure the same and the promises of the last secretary to submit it.

Below appears a statement of the finances of the Ball for the past year, and I sincerely hope that "Bachelor" and all the other bachelors in town will be as anxious to have the debt cleared up as he has been to have the statement published.

Yours truly,

JAMES BLACK,
Secretary B. B.

P. S.—Any bachelor who desires to see an itemized statement of the accounts can do so on applying to me and if there are any more dissatisfied bachelors, it would be much more convenient if they would attend the meeting to be held in the B.N.W.P. Barracks on Thursday, Jan. 30th at 8 p.m., when means for raising the amount required will be discussed.

The match between Brooks and Gleichen was one of the best ever seen here. From start to finish it was a most interesting game and one where the attention of the spectators never flagged. The teams were evenly matched, though Gleichen had the better combination and to this is due the fact that the larger end of the score was in their favor. During the first half the play was generally on Brooks ice, but in the second they rallied and often breaking up Gleichen's combination made several hot attacks on Gleichen goal, but the game concluded with the score 7-4 in favor of Gleichen. After the game participants and spectators alike adjourned to the Opera House where several hours were whiled away in tripping the light fantastic.

Monday night at Bassano there was the fastest, most interesting and most exciting game ever played in the Bow Valley Hockey League. The match was between Gleichen and Bassano. The game started at 9.15 and it was just four minutes to 12 when the last goal was made. It took Gleichen five minutes to score the first goal and at the end of the first half the two teams had two goals. In the second half both teams claimed a score each, but there was a dispute on the Bassano goal, it being claimed the puck passed through a hole in the net by Bassano, while Gleichen claimed it went by the net, and Gleichen entered a protest. Then started the play-off of 5 minutes each way and it required one hour's play to decide the point, Bassano scoring in the last four minutes. The game throughout was a clean one and the best of feeling was shown, only a couple of men being placed on the fence. Through an accident Billy Service was knocked out by an opposition player and F. Scott was taken on to fill his place. Turnbull proved an excellent referee, while Reg Jowett was goal judge for Gleichen and Messrs. Bone, Pierce and Murehenon for Bassano. The game tomorrow—Friday—will be very interesting.

Agricultural Association Meeting.

The Gleichen District Agricultural Association held an interesting meeting Saturday afternoon at which many important subjects were thoroughly discussed. A couple of accounts were passed and it was ordered that prizes of the Seed Grain Fair be paid. Upon application J. A. Wilson was leased the east portion of the exhibition ground on condition that he fence it off with Page wire and be allowed an option to remove the fence on the expiration of his lease. J. T. Johnston was again chosen as secretary of the Association.

The question of the date of the exhibition for this year occupied a great deal of time in discussion, some being in favor of August and some October. It was also pointed out that a much better grade of stock was now in the country and as the Association had not sufficient funds to provide proper shelter, it could not be expected the stock would be exhibited in October. It was also pointed out that in August it would be impossible to obtain a good exhibit of threshed grain, in order to meet all these difficulties it was finally decided to hold the fair as near as possible to Aug. 15th and allow exhibits of grain grown in 1912. C. J. Bray was appointed the Association's delegate to attend the convention at Edmonton on Feb. 19th and 20th.

It is with the deepest regret we record the death of Mrs. F. J. Palmer at Crowfoot Saturday morning, Jan. 25th, at the age of 82 years. This young woman came from Scotland last June when she was married to Mr. Palmer and seemed in good health until Friday evening when she was taken suddenly ill and despite every effort of a doctor and nurse she passed away. The remains were interred in the Gleichen cemetery Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Palmer's many friends join in extending their most sincere sympathy in his great bereavement.

ODDFELLOWS MEETING

Monday evening Grand Master Alf. Brown, of Edmonton paid an official visit to Prairie Lodge No. 44 accompanied by Bro. Tully, representing the Oddfellow's Relief Association. After the regular business was disposed of the Grand Master in a very plain, but instructive and interesting talk, showed that the order was gaining ground in every country, and stated that at the present time there were upwards of two million Oddfellows on the American continent alone, and showed that the three links now encircled the world. Speaking of the duties he found imposed upon him as Grand Master of Alberta he had already travelled some 1100 miles in the interests of the order since the honor had been conferred upon him. When elected to the position he now occupied in the order he said he felt he was hardly capable of filling so important a position, but he had promised to do his utmost for the advancement of the order and to endeavor to visit every lodge in Alberta. Gleichen was the seventieth lodge he had visited, and he hoped to be able to visit the balance before his term expired, although he feared there might be a few omissions. Bro. Tully gave a very interesting address on the insurance and other benefits of the order and before adjourning for luncheon, Rev. E. Cox Clark entertained the members to a very interesting talk.

The installation of the officers for his present term was as follows:

J. P. G.—R. A. Brown

MASONIC MEETING

On Tuesday evening, Jan. 28th, Gleichen Lodge No. 36 A. F. & A. M. had the pleasure of receiving an official visitation from Grand Master R. Patterson, of MacLeod. The Lodge of Instruction was well attended, many being present from outside points, and the workings of the different degrees was well exemplified. Grand Master Patterson gave brief resume of the progress of the order and sketched the benefits and advantages of Masonry in a highly interesting and instructive manner. Several of the brethren also made brief addresses, all of which were listened to with pleasure and profit. At the close of the business session refreshments were served and the brethren spent an enjoyable hour around the festive board.

Hockey Club Meeting

The meeting of the Gleichen Hockey club held in the Royal Barber shop last week proved interesting with W. H. McKie in the chair.

After the usual passing of the previous minutes Mr. Spurr was asked to give a report of the work of the committee appointed regarding the formation of a company to legally handle the property acquired by the club. Mr. Spurr stated that the committee had gone into the matter pretty thoroughly and had obtained the advice of Solicitor Corry, who had already taken up the matter and would apply for incorporation if it was the wish of the Club. In briefly outlining the objects of the proposed formation of the company, Mr. Spurr said the committee had determined to submit the following proposals to the Club as a report of the member's deliberations.

1.—That a company be incorporated under the name of "The Gleichen Rink Co."

2.—That the authorized capital of the company be $10,000.00.

3.—That the par value of the stock of the company be $10.00 a share.

4.—That the company purchase the Gleichen ice rink from the Gleichen Hockey Club for the sum of $600.00, said amount to be paid in capital stock of the company, fully paid up and non-assessable.

5.—That the company issue and sell stock of the company to the extent of $600.00

6.—That the company assume and take over all outstanding accounts against the said ice rink, said amount not to exceed the sum of $600.00

7.—That the company take over and assume control of the said ice rink on February 15th, 1913, and pay all future expenses in connection with said rink from February 15th, 1913.

AUTOMOBILES

With the advent of 1913 many new cars are noted on the Canadian markets. Both new and old show many refinements and improvements over 1912.

McLAUGHLIN-BUICK builders have made good their claim to a country built car.

A car built for our none-to-good Canadian roads.

A car fitted with all the latest improvements.

The prices are moderate. Careful comparison is invited with the higher priced cars and especially with cheap cars whose makers base their extravagant claims of present worth on what their cars have not, instead of what they have.

We also have some excellent values in rebuilt cars, repainted and overhauled.

CHAPTER II The Youthful-Dead

It was only the thickness of his leather motor coat, that and his own activity that saved Edward Thorold's life. As it was, he got a nasty stab in the hand, besides another in the neck that only just drew blood, and then at the third blow the thin blade of Green's knife snapped short against the thick leather of Thorold's coat. Thorold laughed then, with his harsh, unaccustomed laugh, and seizing his assailant round the body fairly flung him into the road, where he lay stunned and shaken. Jumping down from the car, Thorold stood over him, blood dripping from his wounded hand.

You little rat, he said, and when Green tried to rise he put his foot on his breast and crushed him down into the dirt again. You little rat, he said once more.

For two or three moments they remained thus, Green gazing in sullen rage and hate, and Thorold looking down in contempt and, as it seemed, in some doubt. He was wondering how those pale, furtive eyes he had just seen charged with such murderous malice, could ever have seemed to him like those of the lad he loved with the love that David bore to Jonathan, passing the love of women, and it was a terrible reflection to him that perhaps his first impression had been the right one.

In a moment or two he turned away and got back into his car, and Green rose slowly to his feet. For another minute or so the two men stared full at each other, and then Green asked in a kind of stupor of amazement as he saw that Thorold was preparing to start again:

What, ain't you going to give me up to the police, then?

You are not worth the trouble, Thorold answered with a cold scorn that set Green shaking with a rage more intense, a fury more bitter than any he had even felt before.

From the very first moment he had felt a secret antagonism towards Thorold. In his very way of saving him had been a scornful pride that had stung Green to the quick, in his manner afterwards there had been just that hard contempt that was above all things repugnant to Green's vain and yet affectionate nature. Had Thorold done what he had done with another manner, with sympathy and kindness, Green would almost have worshipped him, would willingly have died for him. But as it was he hated him, and when he spoke a malign and bitter fury breathed in his words.

I'll show what I'm worth, he stammered; I'll let them take me, so I will, and then I'll tell 'em 'ow you helped me to escape up on the hill there. Twelve months hard I'll be for harboring of an escaping convict—twelve months hard, and I'll do my time in peace and 'appy to think of you toiling the line in quod.

Thorold looked rather astonished and his grim, set face showed a certain discomposure. For if this little rascal chose to carry out his threat and to denounce him for having helped him, not only would the immediate consequences be extremely unpleasant, but also the errand upon which he was would be ruined, with results he dared not think of.

It was not his way to hesitate, and in a moment his mind was made up. The very depth of the contempt he felt for the little convict made him care nothing about appearing to yield to his threats.

Jump in, then, he said, and I will take you out of this. I don't want to bother with the police just now. It serves me right for being such a fool. I think it's the first time I ever meddled with what didn't concern me, and I'm sure it will be the last.

Sullenly suspicious, Green resumed his seat in the car and in a moment the great machine was flying along the road again.

Brought you to your senses, eh? Showed you I wasn't only dirt to be trod on, eh? asked Green, with a kind of feeble and malign triumph; showed you you wasn't master same as you thought you was, eh?

Aye, answered Thorold, I had forgotten that even a worm can be an inconvenience at times.

Me, a worm? gasped Green. 'Ere, what? You keep a civil tongue in your head, will you? Call me a worm, would you? 'ere let me down and I'll go back, so I will, and split to the peelers.

Be quiet, said Thorold, turning on him with a blaze of wrath before which the other's spiteful temper withered in an instant; if you bother me or threaten me any more, I'll strangle you where you sit and throw your body into the ditch there.

That he meant what he said was evident, and Green collapsed, hating him more than ever. About two miles further on they came out on a lonely stretch of down, at the extremity of which the spires of an old cathedral city were visible. It was in this direction that Thorold now headed the car, and turning to Green, he said:

What plans have you for the future?

If I can once get to London, Green answered, I should be right enough. I've a friend what's in the Baltic coasting trade, and he would stow me away on board his ship; and once I got over there he could get me on board with another friend of his, what's captain of a ship trading between Bremen and South America. Then I should be all safe enough.

Thorold looked at him very keenly, and in spite of his habitual self-restraint he showed a certain excitement.

You are certain of what you say?

Of course, Green answered.

Who is your friend? Thorold asked again.

It's my elder brother, Green answered, he thinks a deal of me—he would do anything for me—always has—it was all planned out with 'im when I got took.

Ah, your elder brother, eh? said Thorold with rather a peculiar look.

He seemed to become absorbed in deep meditation. But he had above all things the faculty for quick decision. He never hesitated long, and now in less than a minute he turned to Green again.

This way of escape from England you speak of, could you take some one else with you?

What? cried Green with a stare of wild amazement.

You would be well paid, of course.

Why—why? Green stammered out, are you a cross cove, too? Are the slops after you as well?

It is not myself, said Thorold coldly.

It is some one in whom I am interested. If his position should prove as serious as I have some reason to believe it to be, will you help him to escape with you? Naturally you and your brother will be well paid, and of course you yourself will receive such assistance as I can give you. If you agree, you can rely upon my help for yourself, and you and your brother may name your own terms.

And me a worm and all, said Green sulkily; can a worm 'elp any one?

It seems so on this occasion, said Thorold with such deep contempt in his voice that Green writhed in helpless anger. Do you agree? If not, we are near the town now, and you must get down and shift for yourself—and if you attempt to play any tricks I shall see that you suffer for them. But I think your wiser plan will be to agree to what I suggest.

All right, muttered Green sulkily, but mind—no more of that there worm business.

Don't presume to make conditions with me, said Thorold with that cold contempt which always reduced Green to instant and trembling submission. Remember this, too—if you try to betray us, I shall have no hesitation in wringing your neck. I suppose I can trust you as you are escaping from a life term of penal servitude, but if you attempt to play double, you shall die for it.

Ugh! muttered Green with a shiver, for his temperament, vain and shallow, though quick and ardent also, was just the one to feel the supremacy of Thorold's stern, purposeful nature. I believe you would murder me as soon as look at me, but I shall be in the same boat, sink or swim, as your friend.

He pronounced the last two words with some hesitation, for he could not yet clear his mind from the idea that his companion was, in fact, referring to himself. Without saying anything, Thorold turned his machine round, and after a time drove up a rough narrow track that led away from the high road across the bare downs.

He did not say anything more or take any further notice of Green, whose active little brain was busily at work scheming what further advantage he could suck out of this business for himself. He felt it would be indeed a grand stroke of business if he could somehow ensure his own escape and at the same time hand over Thorold—or Thorold's friend, if there were any such person—to the police. But glancing at his companion again, he dismissed his thoughts of treachery with a shudder; for upon his shallow soul, dread of his companion was becoming as deeply impressed as hate. A moment or two later, turning a shoulder of the down, they came in sight of a small house.

50,000 OUT OF WORK

Packers of Brittany Declare They Are Unable to Compete With Packers Outside

Paris, France.—One hundred and sixteen sardine packing establishments in Brittany definitely closed down at the end of the year, throwing 50,000 people out of employment.

Some fifty factories in which other small fish are packed still remain open in the region around Concarneau and Douarnenez, but will also be closed down on March 1.

The closing down was decided upon some time ago by the syndicate of sardine packers, who declare that the present situation is ruinous.

The fishermen asked for an increase in the price paid per 1000 for the raw sardines. This increase the packers were unable to grant. They say they are completely crushed by the cost of labor and their general expenses and are unable to compete with the Spanish and Portuguese packers.

The French packers further declare that instead of demanding higher wages per 1000 raw sardines the fishermen should have endeavored to secure the authorization to use revolving nets in territorial waters, and thus increase their catch.

Of the 50,000 men, women and children who find their occupation gone by the closing of the packing establishments, many, it is expected, will have to leave their homes and seek work elsewhere. It is feared that much distress will result from the crisis.

RIFLE TOMB FOR CROWN

Finding Quest Vain, They Leave Corpses on Floor of Vault and Quit

Vienna.—A telegram received from Grosswarden (Hungary) states that the tomb of Count Ludwig Rheydey and his wife has been rifled, and the police are unable to discover the robbers.

Count Rheydey, who died in 1831, was distantly connected by marriage with the Teck family. He was buried in a handsome mausoleum in the grounds of a park which now belongs to the town, and it was believed locally that the count ordered an English dual crown of great value and family jewels to be buried with him.

This probably tempted the robbers to commit the crime. They managed to penetrate the park, break down the door of the mausoleum and burst open the lids of the coffins of the count and his wife. They scattered the remains on the floor of the vault, probably in disgust at finding no trace of the riches they expected. They left only a cigarette end.

Possibilities

If you cannot win a fortune

That will feather well your nest

You at least can earn a living

If you work your level best.

If you cannot make a million

Where the highest stakes are played

You can knock out several dollars

Working daily at your trade.

What's the use of having money

That you never hope to spend?

It will only bring you trouble.

It is not your truest friend.

If you settle with the grocer

And can pay the butcher's score

With a little left for pleasure,

What can any one do more?

For the man who has a million

Only has one pair of eyes

To behold the wondrous picture

Of an old earth before him lies.

He can only eat one breakfast,

Only wear one pair of slippers,

Have but one hat on his head.

If you cannot own an auto

That will travel double quick,

You can stroll along the highway

Where the autumn leaves are thick.

And, whatever is your station,

In whatever niche you fit,

You can have a lot of pleasure

If you make the best of it.

Cry of Fire Costs Twelve Lives

Paris.—Two men, five women and five children lost their lives in a cinema theatre at Melin, on the Belgian frontier. Thirty other persons were injured. There were 700 persons in the theatre when one of the films caught fire. Almost immediately the operator extinguished the outbreak, but some one shouted "Fire!" and the audience made a rush for the exits. Many of them were trampled under foot.

So Enthusiastic

I am just crazy about baseball, said the bright young girl to the athletic appearing young fellow.

How interesting!

Oh, I dote on it. I wish I could see a game this afternoon.

But the season is over.

Oh, is it?

Perhaps you mean football?

Maybe. It is one or the other, I forget which.

Too Bad

Doesn't she have stunning things?

Who?

That Mrs. Dowdy.

Yes. And what a pity it is that she doesn't hire a right kind of woman to wear them for her.

Home already, Percy, dear? Come and give me a kiss.

Let me see your hands first.

Why, you suspicious boy?

I want to see whether you have a dressmaker's bill in one of them.

Men Scared Away

Rotterdam.—After circulating hundreds of invitations to a ball, which he described as the wallflowers' last chance in the dying leap year, Hendrik Terveer, a Rotterdam dancing master, had to abandon the function because only women came in answer to the call.

Shocking Extravagance

Too bad about Clara.

What is?

There'll soon be nothing left of her. Is she ill?

No, but she's always giving herself away.

A Bad Guess

A worthy old Edinburgh professor was invited to a Christmas dinner at the house of a lady of fashion.

When the company rose from the table the professor noticed, to his great consternation, that he was unsteady on his feet.

In his anxiety to save appearances, he repaired to the drawing-room where the lady of the house yielded to the wishes of her lady friends, and ordered the nurse to bring in the baby twins. In due course the little dears reached the professor.

The latter gazed intently at them for a while, as if deciding whether or not there were two or one, and then said, huskily: Really, what a bonny little child.

Proof

Two opulent members of the fair sex were discussing some new neighbors who had moved into one of the most sumptuous houses in their district.

They seem to be very rich, said the first.

Oh, they are, said the second.

Shall you call?

Oh, yes, decidedly.

You are sure, are you, that they are—er quite correct, quite—er—good style?

Oh, my dear, I'm positive, said the second woman. They have twenty servants, eighteen horses, twelve dogs, four motor-cars, and one child.

There is no more effective vermifuge on the market than Miller's Worm Powders. They will not only clear the stomach and bowels of worms, but will prove a very serviceable medicine for children in regulating the infantile system and maintaining it in a healthy condition.

There is nothing in their composition that will injure the most delicate stomach when directions are followed, and they can be given to children in the full assurance that they will utterly destroy all worms.

IF YOUR BABY IS SICK

GIVE BABY'S OWN TABLETS

The little ills of babyhood and childhood should be treated promptly, or they may prove serious. An occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets will regulate the stomach and bowels and keep your little ones well. Or they will promptly restore it. With illness comes unexpectedly. Mrs. Lenora M. Thompson, Oil Springs, Ont., says: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little girls as occasion required, and have found them always of the greatest help. No mother, in my opinion, should be without the Tablets." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Sunday School Teacher—What are you?

Willie—I guess I'm the compass; they're always boxing me.

A Good Idea

She—Why do you look so cross when you go out with me?

He—My love, where would be the merit in my going if I were not making an awful sacrifice of my feelings. Permit me the pleasure of showing that I only go to please you.

London.—In the house of commons recently, Ellis Griffith, in reply to Sir William Byles, said that during the last seven years sentence of death had been passed on twenty-one women, and in one case the sentence was executed. During the same period the capital sentence was passed on nine persons in their teens, and in four the judgment was carried out.

Calcutta.—It is alleged that the jurymen impaneled in a case at Mymensingh, India, in which a man was sentenced to death, returned their verdict by casting lots. A judicial inquiry has been ordered.

Wise in His Generation

I suppose your wife was more than delighted at your rise in salary, was not she? asked Jones of Brown.

I haven't told her yet, but she will be when she knows it, answered Brown.

How is it that you haven't told her? Well, I thought I would enjoy myself a couple of weeks first.

How about that steamer? I guess she's all right.

There's a rumor ashore that she's afloat.

That's good. I heard there was a rumor afloat, that she was ashore.

INFLAMMATORY RHEUMATISM

Conquered by GIN PILLS

Mr. W. O. Reid, Hamilton, Ont., writes: "I have been for the last two years a cripple with Muscular and Inflammatory Rheumatism. I tried almost everything known to medical science and sought change of climate without relief. Your manager in this city recommended Gin Pills and I have since taken eight boxes and am now cured. I consider Gin Pills the conqueror of Rheumatism and Kidney Disease."

THE FARMER AND HIS GRAIN

The only pure and satisfactory way in which the Western farmer can secure the highest possible market value for his wheat, oats, barley and flax is by shipping it by the carload to Fort William or Port Arthur, or to Duluth if cars cannot be got for the other terminals (loading it if possible direct into the car over the loading platform so as to save elevator charges and dockage) and employing a strictly commission firm to handle and dispose of it.

We continue to act as the Farmers' Agents solely on a commission basis. We are not truckbuyers and we never buy the Farmers' grain on our own account, but look after and dispose of the grain entrusted to us, as the agents of those who employ us, and it is our desire and endeavor to give everyone the very best service possible. We make liberal advances against car shipping bills, and will also carry the grain for a time under advances at a moderate commercial rate of interest. If conferred advantages, we invite all Farmers to write to us for shipping instructions and market information.

My Digestion Is Now Good

And I Feel Like a Young Man Since
Using Dr. Chase's Kidney-
Liver Pills.

Prof. A. T. Smith.

What a horrible condition the digestive system gets into when the liver becomes sluggish and the bowels constipated. The poisonous waste matter is thrown back into the blood stream and finds its way into all parts of the body, causing pains and aches and feelings of fatigue and misery.

It is wonderful how quickly Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills sweep the poisons from the digestive system and enable the organs of digestion to resume their natural functions.

Prof. A. T. Smith, 1 Mt. Charles street, Montreal, and formerly of Boston, Mass., writes: "I suffered for many years from indigestion, constipation and horrible backache. I have been treated by many doctors without any results. One day a friend in Boston advised the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. After using two boxes I noticed great improvement, and after the fourth box I was completely cured. My digestion is good. I never feel any pain in the back. My head is clear and I feel like a young man. I think Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills are one of the best medicines on earth."

Facial Freaks and Follies

After the Christmas party they both felt very pleased with themselves and things in general.

They sat together in a cosy little alcove, and by-and-by he took his courage in both hands—and proposed.

There was no hesitation on the lady's part as she accepted, and a moment later they occupied but one chair whilst she nestled closely to his manly breast.

Suddenly she started, frowned, and looked him full in the face.

Albert, she said, you are untrue to me! You are playing a game with me!

Darling, he replied, what— You—you're making faces at me! she thundered indignantly.

I can't help it, he muttered, sadly. My eyes-glasses are falling off and I don't want to let go of your dear little hand.

A Silly Question

At the supper-table Mr. Wade mentioned a tragic circumstance that he had read that day in the newspaper. A passenger on a transatlantic steamer had fallen overboard in mid-ocean and had never been seen again.

Was he drowned? asked Mrs. Wade. Oh, no; of course not, said Mr. Wade. But he sprained his ankle.

A Lowestoft Smuggling Story

Of the many strange stories told in connection with the exploits of the smuggling fraternity on the East Coast one of the most singular is perhaps one which is connected with Lowestoft, and the substance of which is told in the following narrative:—

About September, 1895, the then Rector of Lowestoft was visited late at night by a sailor, who informed the good man that he came from a vessel lying in the harbor, to request his ministrations for a comrade who was dying on board.

So earnest was the visitor in his entreaties that, notwithstanding the lateness of the hour, the Rector proceeded thither, and found a man to all appearance at the point of death, to whom he administered all the comfort within his power.

On the following evening the visitor again appeared at the Rectory, and stated that his partner had died during the day and that his last wish was that he should be interred in Lowestoft Churchyard, adding further that as the vessel was obliged to leave at a special time of the tide on the following morning, it was necessary that the funeral should take place at eight o'clock. The Rector acquiesced, and so on the following morning the coffin was brought ashore and deposited with the usual rites in the parish churchyard.

The consternation of the Rector can be imagined when, some twenty-four hours afterwards, a member of the local authority called upon him with the information that the newly-made grave had been opened, and the coffin abstracted, the funeral itself turning out to be a skillfully-laid plan to run a cargo of valuable lace, over which had been read the service of the Church.

He Might Be, Though

Mrs. Hugh Fraser, in her latest book of reminiscence, has many amusing stories to tell.

One of them is about the Crown Prince of Germany. His Royal Highness had just taken into his service a new manservant, but the overdone ceremonial obsequiousness of the man soon began to jar on his master. The Crown Prince became so irritated at last that the servant received an intimation to the effect that the Crown Prince would prefer to be treated with more simplicity.

The next day, when the Crown Prince was seated writing at his table he suddenly felt himself tapped on the shoulder. Thinking it was his wife, the Crown Princess, he turned quickly, smiling, only to behold the servant standing beside him and regarding him with a friendly smile. Before the astonished heir to the Throne could find suitable words with which to rebuke the man's presumption, the latter jerked his thumb behind him in the direction of the door.

Panphen has come to see you! he announced.

Now, the Crown Prince was expecting his father, the Emperor, and as Panphen literally means "little nap," his Royal Highness nearly fainted with horror.

Panphen! he gasped. Then, thinking the servant must have been drinking to talk of the Emperor in such a way, he muttered to himself, his eyes fixed in amazed inquiry on the man: Is he drunk?

The servant apparently thought the whispered remark was a confidential request for information as to the visitor's condition, for, after scratching his head in some perplexity, he whispered back softly:

Drunk? Well, no; I didn't notice anything.

Raise Hogs

Every farm has enough table slops and skimmed milk, smutty grain or other by-products to feed or nearly feed enough hogs for one's own meat supply.

If you will take an acre of your poorest land and plant in it some of the good grazing crops and then put a piece of mesh wire around it and turn the hogs in, you will raise thrifty, economical hogs and the land you use for this purpose will be so well fertilized in a year that it will be worth twice as much for producing your standard farm crops.

Give your hogs an acre of your tillable land and prepare it for them, and you will find, if you will keep books, that it pays you more net profit than any other acre on the farm. Of course, if you put your hogs in a little 6 x 6 pen and feed them nothing but corn and have no shelter for them either from sun or rain and keep them thin in the summer so they won't get hot instead of giving them water under a nice shade tree, you may be disappointed. If you abuse the hog this way he is not going to bring you in any revenue. But if you will give your hogs a fighting chance they will take it and make good.

When you start out to raise your meat supply for next year get a breed gilt or a pair of pigs that are of good registered stock. The difference in cost is so little between them, and grades and the difference in economy of production is so great that a man is making a mistake who buys less than the best. Then, aside from the difference in profit, good hogs are so much easier to handle and you will have so much better quality of meat when you kill. It does not take near the fencing for good hogs, either.

Much Worse Losses

There was an amusing incident after the recent first night at the Criterion Theatre, when Mr. Bernard Parry's play "Where There's a Will" was very well received by the audience.

After the final fall of the curtain, a group of people, including Sir Charles Wyndham, were congratulating Mr. Parry, but the author seemed more concerned over the loss of his hat, which had disappeared during the evening.

Why, man, Sir Charles Wyndham exclaimed, I've known young authors to have lost not only their hats, but their heads also over such a reception as the house has just given you!

Doctor—Well, I hope you profited by my advice.

Patient—Yes, doctor, but not so much as you did.

NAVAL ESTIMATES NEAR COMPLETION

Britain Will Spend Vast Sum on Programme—New Guns of Prodigious Power

London.—According to the Daily Mail, the work of framing the British navy estimates for the coming year is nearly completed. The one point remaining for decision, namely, whether five or six battleships shall be laid down depends upon the Austrian naval programme. If the admiralty decides to wait before taking action till the Austrian ships are laid down, it may be expected to begin five battleships this year.

The naval programme will then, according to present information, involve an expenditure of $240,000,000, and will include five battleships, six light armored cruisers, twenty destroyers, a number of submarines, and an addition to the personnel of 5,000 men, making a total of 142,500 officers and men.

The battleships will be of a new type, the largest and strongest which science can build or money supply. They will displace 27,000 of 28,000 tons, burn oil and fuel alone, and steam 25 knots. Thus they will be intermediate between the present Dreadnought battleship and battle cruiser. They will be armed in all probability with eight 16 1/4 inch guns each firing 2,200 pound shells, of if the 16 1/4 inch gun is not adopted they will have 15 inch guns, firing shells that weigh 1,600 pounds.

IT IS NEWS WORTH GIVING TO THE WORLD

HOW RAVAGES OF KIDNEY DISEASE ARE CHECKED IN QUEBEC

Mrs. Julien Painchaud, for seven years a sufferer, finds quick relief and complete cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Whitworth, Temiscouata Co., Que., (Special).—With the coming of winter the ravages of Kidney Disease are again felt in this province, and the fact that a sure cure is vouchsafed for in this village is news worth giving to the world. Mrs. Julien Painchaud is the person cured and she states without hesitation that she found her cure in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"For seven years my heart and kidneys bothered me," Mrs. Painchaud states. "I was always tired and nervous. I could not sleep. My limbs were heavy and I had a dragging sensation across the loins. My eyes had dark circles under them and were puffed and swollen. I was so ill I could hardly drag myself around to do my housework."

"A neighbor advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills, and I found relief in the first box. Six boxes made me perfectly well."

"If you have any two of Mrs. Painchaud's symptoms your kidneys are diseased. Cure them and guard against serious, if not fatal results by using Dodd's Kidney Pills."

Her Match

A dear old lady had been presented with a parrot from the Congo, and she was showing it to her old gardener.

You know, Horace, that this parrot comes from the Congo, and Congo parrots are so intelligent that they are almost human. This bird whistles 'Home, Sweet Home' so beautifully that the tears run down its beak.

Yes, mum, quoth Horace, I know the parrots from the Congo. I used to have one, and it whistled 'The Village Blacksmith' so beautifully that sparks used to fly from its blooming tail.

That will do, Horace, you may go.

Thomas, the messenger lad, was sent by his employer to the back of a certain market to buy a tin kettle to replace one the spout of which had been melted off. The old kettle was given to the boy so that he might obtain one of the same pattern.

Although the market was only a few yards away, the boy did not return for two hours, and then without having made a purchase.

Why, the market is full of kettles, said the employer.

Ay, replied the lad, but they all had spouts on.

My dear, came a voice from an upper window.

Let me alone; I'm busy, he shrieked back, and he went on shovelling, and down slammed the window.

Half an hour later the same voice from the same window, came in pleading tones:

My dear John—

Well, what on earth do you want again? he shouted. Is the house on fire? Have the burglars got in?

No, John, waived the voice, but you are shovelling the snow off in front of the wrong house.

Then he collapsed.

Look for Better Times in Spain

Madrid.—Governmental reforms almost revolutionary in their character have been promised by King Alfonso, and Republicans are jubilant.

It was learned that Azcarraga, the Republican leader, had been granted an interview by King Alfonso who promised immediately to establish the old age pension system, greatly liberalize the educational system, reduce the expenses of Spain's military programme, establish religious tolerance and bring into being many other reforms which Republicans long have sought.

I am thoroughly convinced of King Alfonso's sincerity and interest, Azcarraga declared when he left the royal audience. I am delighted. Better things surely are coming in the very near future for Spain.

A Matter of Sex

A well-known clergyman describes an incident which occurred at a meeting held in the South of England to promote a charity. The mayor had worked hard to secure a successful gathering and as he looked round and found the bishop of the diocese seated side by side with the Wesleyans, the Baptist, and other ministers, he felt that he had reached the supreme moment of his life.

He rose, and after expressing his delight at seeing so many men forgetting their little differences and uniting in a common cause, he summed up the situation in these eloquent words:

The fact is, gentlemen, if a man's heart is in the right place, it doesn't matter what sex he belongs to!

His Little Mistake

The new clergyman was paying a visit amongst the patients in the local hospital. When he entered ward No. 4, he came across a pale-looking young man lying in a bed, heavily swathed in bandages. There he stopped and, after administering a few words of comfort to the unfortunate sufferer, he remarked, in cheering tones:—

Never mind, my dear fellow, you'll soon be all right. Keep on smiling; that's the way in this world.

I'll never smile again, replied the youth, sadly.

Rubbish! ejaculated the clerk.

There ain't no rubbish about it! exclaimed the other heatedly.

It's through smiling at another fellow's girl that I'm here now.

The Chief Event

A Liverpool schoolmaster is telling a rather funny story against himself.

He begins the story with the significant remark that one Saturday he paid the last of a series of visits to his dentist.

On the following Monday morning one or two of his pupils looked at him curiously, but of course nothing was said.

He makes a point of trying to interest his pupils in the current affairs of the world, so when his class assembled he opened his newspaper and, as usual, asked the question:—

Well children, what is the chief event that has happened since Friday?

Quick as lightning came the reply from a little girl in the front row: Please, sir, you've had a set of false teeth!

The teacher says he passed hurriedly to other topics.

Nautical

She sang of the mornings, cold and grey.

She sang of the death of the fishers brave.

The kid still cried for life on the wave

So she gave it a little smack.

Nothing Left

Care and system are the half-way houses to happiness, and if Mrs. McQuill was anything, she was careful and systematic. A little while ago she had occasion to go out and leave the house to take care of itself. But the grocer was expected, and unless he was warned, he would leave his commodities on the doorstep, and thus advertise the fact that house was unprotected. Therefore Mrs. McQuill wrote this note: All out; don't leave anything, and pinned it on the front door.

When she returned her note was no longer on the front door, and there was a nasty, empty sort of sensation about the greater part of the house. Everything of value had disappeared.

She found her note on the dining-table. But a line had been added to it.

Many thanks, it ran: We haven't left much.

Six Hundred Teachers Wanted.

Six hundred qualified teachers are wanted to fill existing vacancies in the public schools of Alberta. The need is so pressing on account of the rapidly changing conditions throughout the province that the school inspectors have recommended a modification of the present regulations to admit American teachers under certain conditions. These recommendations are being considered by the Minister of Education, Hon. J. R. Boyle, who is quoted as saying:—"The department found it necessary last year to issue permits to 400 teachers to enable them to take up schools. Some of these had no qualifications. We have also allowed teachers from other provinces in Canada and from Great Britain to take up schools; though their standards were not as high as our requirements; but it was thought to be better to keep the schools open than to have the pupils deprived of all educational facilities. Under the present system Americans, no matter how well qualified, cannot teach school in Alberta."

Mr. Boyle said that after considering the matter from every standpoint most of the inspectors reached the conclusion that Americans, holding degrees from reputable universities and with academic standing as high as those of properly qualified teachers in Alberta should be allowed to teach in Alberta schools, after passing examinations in Canadian civics and Canadian and British history.

"The recommendations were made by practical men who are on the ground," the minister added. "They are familiar with the needs and requirements in educational matters in this growing country."

Why Cattle Exports Have Dropped Off.

The Weekly Sun takes as the text of an article that portion of Sir Edmund Walker's address to the shareholders of the Bank of Commerce dealing with the problem of mixed farming in the West.

"Large parts of the West," it says, "are admirably adapted to mixed farming and it is desirable, alike as a means of maintaining fertility and of escaping the risks incident to the one crop system that cattle can be more extensively raised. Unfortunately the tendency at present appears to be in the opposite direction, as we are told by the authority quoted that the exports of cattle from Alberta have dropped from 67,000 head in 1909 to 5,000 head last year."

There is one simple method by which these adverse conditions could be changed. Acceptance of the offer of reciprocity which still stands on the statute book of the United States, would open the Chicago market to Western cattle and needless to say this opening would give an immense and immediate impetus to cattle raising in the Prairie Provinces. Last year one large operator in Calgary was able to sell trainloads of Alberta cattle in Chicago even after meeting a 27½ per cent tariff on crossing the lines."

While no official announcement has been made as to the government's program, to be taken up at the session of the provincial legislature, beginning February 11 in the new parliament buildings, assurances have been given that the main items will be railroad and rural telephone extensions, good road construction and grain elevator building. The last named is designed to relieve the situation caused by inadequate storage and shipping facilities following the harvesting of crops. The executive council has invited Lieutenant Governor Bulyea to formally open the session. Premier Sifton and members of his cabinet have moved to their new quarters in the big structure, which overlooks the Saskatchewan river. The buildings, costing $1,500,000 were formally dedicated last fall by H. R. H., the Duke of Connaught, governor general of Canada.

McLeod Advertiser:—With more railways, with better freight rates, with freer trade, with less of a hold-up in the prices of manufactured goods, with more intelligent methods of general farming, with the assuaging of the insane fever to get rich in a year or two, with the coming of a sense of permanency and contentment, then will come the real prosperity, and not the flitting sort which is depending on the money brought in by new arrivals, remittances, and the lotterylike profits of real estate deals. We might add that increasing the wages of the working population, consistent with the ever increasing cost of living would add mightily to the prosperity of the producer.

The antiseptic propaganda is gradually eliminating many of the menaces to health. The United States public health service is out with a denunciation of the finger bowl. It is asserted that as a means of spreading infection and contagion it is in the same class with the common drinking cup and the roller towel. The tendency is towards a return to the safe and sane methods of primitive man,

NEWSPAPER LAW

- 1.—The postmaster is required to give notice by letter (returning the paper does not answer the law) when a subscriber does not take his paper out of the office, and state the reason for its not being taken. A neglect to do this makes the postmaster responsible to the publisher for payment.
- 2.—If any person orders his paper discontinued he must pay all arrears, or the publisher may continue to send it until payment is made, and collect the whole amount whether the paper is taken from the office or not. There can be no legal discontinuance until payment is made.
- 3.—Any person who takes a paper out of the postoffice, whether directed to his name or not or whether he has subscribed or not, is responsible for the pay.
- 4.—If a subscriber orders his paper stopped and the publisher continues to send, the subscriber is bound to pay for it if he takes it from the postoffice. This proceeds upon the ground that man must pay for what he uses.
- 5.—The courts have decided that refusing to take newspapers or periodicals from the postoffice or removing, leaving them uncalled for, is prima facie evidence of intentional fraud.

ALBERTA SPRING HORSE SHOW

The lithographed hanger advertising the Annual Alberta Provincial Spring Horse Show to be held at Calgary April 8th. to 12th., is now being distributed. Anyone who has not received a copy can have one sent to him by applying to E. L. Richardson, Secretary, Victoria Park, Calgary.

The prize list will be ready in a few days, and copies will be sent upon application. There will be about 250 classes in this year's prize list which is about 40 more than last year, and will necessitate holding a five day show in order to allow time for judging.

A new feature this year will be an auction sale of show horses on the morning of April 10th.

The Annual Auction Sale of purebred bulls will be held under the auspices of the Alberta Cattle Breeders' Association on the morning of April 9th.

Neglected Boys For Farmers

The Department of Neglected Children, at the present time, have a number of boys ranging in age from fourteen to seventeen years, for whom they are very anxious to secure work of some description. Farm homes will be given first consideration. Those desirous of employing boys between these ages should communicate with the Superintendent of Neglected Children, Credit Foncier Building, Edmonton, and complete description of boys will be given. Some ten or twelve of these lads are available at the present time and should make capital boys for farmers and ranchers requiring help in their work.

WESTERN CANADA'S DAY

This has been referred to as Canada's Century. In eastern Canada we use no such general term—this is Western Canada's century, decade, year, month, week and day. With the passing of each twenty-four hour period, new business blocks and homes are under construction, new lines of railway have pushed on a little further, and each day is brighter than the one preceeding.

THIS CAT CAN TALK

Sings in Tune Melody of Three German Popular Songs

Hamburg.—Peter, a large tom cat, who is said to talk and sing, is the latest sensation in Hamburg.

The cat is the property of Doctor Sutoris, a woman dentist, who found it when quite young starving on one of the docks.

She has trained it in such a remarkable degree that the animal shows almost human intelligence. A number of witnesses confirm Doctor Sutoris' statements, that Peter distinctly utters the German words for Anna, hurrah, more, Helena, no, enough.

As a crowning wonder, it is declared that the cat, employing the monosyllabic "lah," sings in tune the melodies of three German popular songs, and that the words she utters are spoken with marvelous appropriateness to the occasion.

A Sure Sign

The minister was coming to dinner and the usual preparations had been made to insure the good man a pleasant time. Dishes that would make the mouth water were in the open, and the best silverware was on the table.

At last the visitor came. He was greeted by the daughter of the house, a small girl but one big enough to know better.

I knew you were coming, she said. And how did you know I was coming?

A little bird told me. What sort of a little bird?

A chicken.

How He Did It

How did you vote, Uncle George? How did I vote? responded the old southern dandy.

Yes, sir.

In my mind, sah.

PARROT PREVENTS MURDER

Assassin Mistakes His Voice for That of Man and Skips

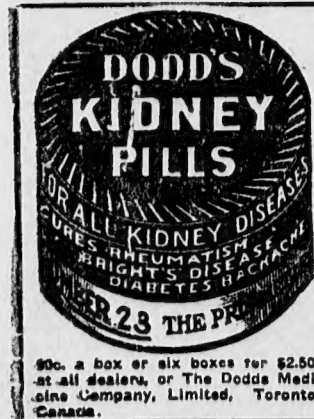

Brussels.—A pet parrot recently played an important part in a tragedy in a suburb of Brussels recently.

An old woman named Koettingen, reputed to be a miser, was strangled by a burglar who entered her lodgings for the purpose of robbing her.

While the assassin was searching for her hoard of money and jewels, Mme. Koettingen's pet parrot uttered several words which it had learned from its mistress.

Thinking that he heard a human voice, the assassin fled, leaving a large sum of money untouched.

Any man can buy tickets to the show, but it takes other qualities to get the right kind of girl to help him look at it.

MEN SOLD AS SLAVES

Human Beings Auctioned, as of Old in Market Towns of Morocco

Paris.—A most revolting picture is painted by a correspondent of the Matin of the slave traffic in Morocco.

Although the nefarious trade in human merchandise, as practiced by the corsairs and dhow masters of the African seas has long been stamped out, it still appears to flourish in the land of Moors.

Writing from Marrakesh, which is stated to be the center of this traffic, the correspondent, a French woman doctor, says:

The slaves conveyed by caravans from the Sius and Taflet regions are quickly sold, either publicly in the market at Marrakesh or clandestinely.

Sales take place in broad daylight. Penned in boxes running around a covered gallery, which serves as a market square in rainy weather, the unfortunate human cattle are exposed for sale three times a week.

Little by little the square fills with potential purchasers. When all is ready the dellals, or auctioneers, arrive on the scene, and with solemn prayer, open the market.

Prayers over, each dellal proceeds to sort out his proper lot of slaves. He then replaces their miserable rags by a more decent attire, and followed close at his heels by the groups of men, women and children, he walks around the market place crying the value of his wares.

Intending purchasers now and again stop the perambulation and leisurely examine the teeth, the hair and the skin and limbs of the human animal which may have attracted their attention.

The bargain being closed, the sale is duly attested before the adouts or notaries. The price varies according to the sex, age and qualities of the slave.

I have seen a man, 24 years old, sold for $17. Girls from 10 to 12 years old bring from $75 to $100. The highest price is paid for a woman who can cook.

It frequently happens that when a woman with a baby at the breast, or accompanied by a little child, is brought into the market the buyer wishes to buy the woman only.

It is then that the most heartrending scenes are witnessed, as the weeping mothers are separated from their offspring with brutal violence.

PALE ANAEMIC GIRLS

Find New Health Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People

There must be no guesswork in the treatment of pale, anaemic girls. If your daughter is languid, has a pale, sallow complexion, is short of breath, especially on going upstairs; if she has palpitation of the heart, a poor appetite, or a tendency to faint, she has anaemia—which means poverty of the blood. Any delay in treatment may leave her weak and sickly for the rest of her life—delay may even result in consumption, that most hopeless of diseases. When the blood is poor and watery, there is only one certain cure—that is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, coupled with nourishing food and gentle out-of-door exercise.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills actually make new blood, which flowing through the veins stimulates the nerves, increases the appetite, gives brightness to the eye, a glow of health to the cheek, and makes weak, despondent girls full of healthy activity.

The case of Miss J. H. Lassalle, Sorel, Que., is typical of the cures made by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. She says: "I was weak and all run down. My face was pale and covered with freckles. Mr. Lins were pale. I suffered from pains in all my limbs, which would at times be swollen. I was hardly ever free from headaches and I found work about the house a burden, as the least effort left me fatigued and breathless. I had no appetite, and notwithstanding that I was constantly doctoring I seemed to be growing worse all the time. One day mother said, 'at the thought I ought to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I decided to do so. I soon discovered that I had found the right medicine, and after using nine boxes I was once more enjoying the best of health, and I have not been 'ravel' a day since."

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Room for Improvement

Mr. Seymour Hicks, who with Miss Ellaline Terris, is at the London Coliseum in a sketch over the holiday season, has been telling this story of one of his early stage experiences.

The heroine, whose acting was very, very bad, was supposed to be an invalid, and Mr. Hicks played the part of the doctor attending her. In one of the scenes another character, referring to the heroine, asked him, "Doctor, is there any hope?"

To which Mr. Hicks replied: She will be better in the spring.

We hope to heaven she will, guv'nor! came a dismal voice from the gallery.

Some men will tell the time of day by the sun, and some women tell the time of night by the son.

In Retrospect

We kick about the modern days. And put them on the rack. But these will be the good old times when we are looking back.

Melbourne.—Prehistoric human footprints have been discovered in slabs of sandstone in a quarry at Warrhambool, Australia. Their age is estimated at 50,000 years.

The only time some persons enjoy doing their duty is when it is an unpleasant one for the other fellow.

Nobody loves a grouch, but that fact doesn't cure him.

A Marriage of Convenience

One of Mrs. Hugh Fraser's stories relates to a peasant at Lesjahn, the home of Mrs. Fraser's sister, Frau von Rabe. The man's wife had died. She was buried with every mark of sympathy, and nothing was left undone to comfort the disconsolate widower. On the evening of the day of the funeral he presented himself at the house and asked to see Frau von Rabe, saying that he had a favor to ask. Instantly he was ushered in. Frau von Rabe begged him to state his wishes. Was there anything she could do to lessen his affliction?

Gracious lady, the truth is, he began, turning his hat nervously round in his fingers. I have come to ask leave to get married again. You see—

But, good gracious! exclaimed his mistress. Of course you may when the time comes.

Yes, but—but I want to marry now, tonight, stammered the man. It is like this—

What on earth do you mean? gasped his mistress. Why, your wife was only buried this morning! Surely you cannot be serious?

Indeed I am, gracious lady! was the earnest reply. I have spoken to the lady, and she is willing to marry me at once, this minute, if only you will give us permission. It's like this: How am I to go to bed with my boots on?—pointing to his tight-fitting toe-boots and I can't pull them off myself, however hard I try. So unless I marry, who is to pull them off for me.

Clergyman (latey come to parish)—Your neighbor Smith says m' sermons are rubbish.

Farmer—Ah, ye needn't mind him. He's merely a mouthpiece for other folks.

The above illustration shows the magnificent terminal station of the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. at Vancouver. The building is now in course of construction, and it is expected that it will be at least two years before the work is completed. The estimated cost of the terminal station and wharf is in the neighborhood of $2,750,000.00.

No Wonder He Was Interested

Mr. G. J. Widdicombe, who in 1872, was appointed by Lord Hennen to be Clerk of the Rules and Orders of the Probate and Divorce Division, has just retired.

One of his stories relates to the only occasion on which Lord Hennen was known to have been hoaxed.

Among the jury called to hear a certain case was a man dressed in deep mourning. Before the case began he rose in his place and begged Lord Hennen that he might be excused from service on the jury as he was deeply interested in a gentleman's funeral and specially desired to be present.

The judge was touched by the man's evident grief. Certainly, he said, you may go!

After the man had left the court, Mr. Widdicombe whispered to his lordship: Do you know who that man is?

No, replied the judge, a little surprised.

He is the undertaker! Mr. Widdicombe explained.

Corns are caused by the pressure of tight boots, but no one need be troubled with them long when so simple a remedy as Holloway's Corn Cure is available.

Not a Complement

I know that I am ugly, and that, as a general thing, the girls do not admire me, said Gus de Smith; but, he added, Miss Birdie McGinnis paid me a very high compliment last evening at the ball.

How did she come to do that? asked Pennybunker cynically.

I don't know how it came about. She usually puts me fifth or sixth on her list of dances, but last night she put me down for the very first dance of all.

I know she did, replied Pennybunker. I asked her what she meant by such eccentricity, and she said that she danced the first dance with you to get you off her mind, so that she could enjoy herself for the rest of the evening.

This story was being told at one of the recent agricultural shows. A rather jolly-looking coterie was wandering round the pig section. Pointing to one of the animals he remarked to a farmer standing near:—

Nice pig that!

The farmer looked at him scornfully.

Much you know about pigs! he commented.

Garn! retorted the coterie. Bet you five bob I can guess its weight as near as you can.

Done, said the farmer promptly. Well, what do you say 'e weighs?

The coterie asked.

Twenty stone, replied the farmer with confidence.

The coterie grinned. I say twenty stone, too, an' that's as near as you, so I win.

Mr. J. L. Toole had a great antipathy to street music of any kind. About this there is a story told of him. The waits, one Christmas evening, played under his windows, greatly to his annoyance, and on the next day they paid him a visit.

We played under your window last night, said the spokesman of the party when they were shown into his presence.

Well, and what do you want? quoth the comedian.

We've come for our little gratuity. Come for a gratuity have you? exclaimed Mr. Toole. Bless me! I thought you had come to apologise.

A Freak of Lightning

Lightning plays some peculiar tricks at times but we have never heard of anything to come up to the following, which the "Melbourne Age" properly labels "Extraordinary Incident."

A young man while riding through the timber country at Willung during a recent storm had a remarkable escape from death in peculiar circumstances. A large tree directly in front of him was struck by lightning and split in halves. The horse he was riding, becoming terrified, started to plunge through the gap between the halves of the tree. At that moment the halves came together with a snap like a rabbit trap, and crushed off a length of the horse's tail, which was still seen protruding from the tree. The young man received a severe shaking, but otherwise came through the ordeal safely.

Hare Hunt Through a Town

London.—A hare, which made its appearance in the town of Baldock, Herts, was chased through High street, Norton street and Orchard street before settling safely away.

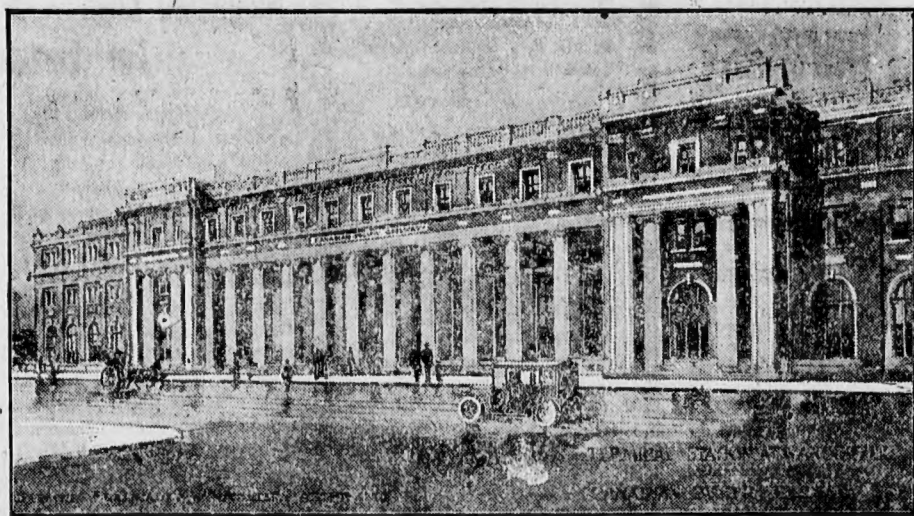

The small boy in the audience watched the classic dancer in her barefooted poses.

Where are the lady's stockings, mamma? he asked in a clear little voice.

Hush dear, I don't know, the embarrassed mother replied.

Maybe she hung 'em up for Christmas, said the small boy in a still louder voice.

The Amateur (enthusiastically)—I suppose art is your whole ambition? The Professional (with a sigh)—Yes but otherwise it is not so filling.

Getting 'em for the Kernel

Some time back a certain colonel's gardener was going through the woods belonging to his employer, when he saw a man busy gathering nuts.

As the colonel had given strict orders that no one was to be allowed to pick the nuts that year, as had hitherto been the case, the gardener said to the man:

You'll have to clear out of this; I've got orders to keep all those nuts for the colonel. He wants them for Christmas.

It's all right, replied the man; that's what I'm getting 'em for.

Satisfied by the answer, the gardener passed on.

Meeting the same man a week after the occurrence he said:

Look here; you were not getting those nuts for the colonel at all.

I tell you I was, was the emphatic reply.

But I know better. The colonel told me that he gave neither you nor anybody else any authority.

Well, I know jolly well I was getting them for the kernel; I don't want the shells.

Funny that a boy will tell his sister all about his love affairs, while a girl always tells another girl.

Divorces ought to come along with the titles that American men of money buy for their ambitious daughters.

It is noticeable that the present craze for old time things doesn't lead any girl into running tall-y candles and making soft soap.

Mrs. Casey—Yesterday was Mrs. Maloney's birthday, and her husband gave her a silver teapot.

Mrs. Murphy—Solid?

Mrs. Casey—Sure, you're joking. How could she put tea in it if it were solid?

Proud Mother—Such enormous sums that we've spent on dear Clara's voice. Sympathetic Visitor—And you can really do nothing for it?

What the Bachelor Missed

A bachelor old and shabby sat all alone in his room.

His toes with out were aching, his face all covered with gloom. No medical aid was lacking; the servants attended his ring.

Respectfully heard his orders, and obliged him in everything. But there was one thing wanting—something he could not command. The kindly look, the gentle tone, the touch of a loving hand.

And he said, as his brow grew darker, and he rang for his hired nurse, Marriage may be a failure, but this is a jolly sight worse!

Then the Fun Started

It was not an important case, but when at last there stepped into the box a diminutive, out-at-the-elbows youth, the pleader thought his chance had come.

You say you are fifteen? Have you any occupation of any kind?

No. And the youth shook his head.

You just loaf about—stand at the corner of the street, and so on?

That's about all, mister.

What does your father do?

Feyther? Nowt much.

Doesn't he do anything to help to keep the family?

Sometimes. 'E get an odd job now and again like.

Ah! The young barrister smiled. As a matter of fact, your father is a lazy, worthless, good-for-nothing idler.

Ah dunno! drawled out the youth. Maybe 'e is, maybe 'e isn't. Anyway, you can ask him. 'E's sittin' there on the jury.

The publisher of the best Farmer's paper in the Maritime Provinces in writing to us states:

"I would say that I do not know of a medicine that has stood the test of time like MINARD'S LINIMENT. It has been an unfailing remedy in our household ever since I can remember, and has outlived dozens of would-be competitors and imitators.

Culinary Flattery

Nice.—Several hotel proprietors at Nice and Mentone, to flatter their German visitors, are serving a pudding a la Sedan, a circumstance which has drawn a protest from some of the Paris journals.

There's no rest for the weary, but then who cares as long as there's a crowd at the social?

THE PANAMA POLICY

SENATOR ROOT ATTACKS STAND
TAKEN ON QUESTION

Is Vigorous in His Denunciation of Attitude of the United States in the Canal Controversy—Refusal to Arbitrate Would Proclaim Country Indifferent to National Honor.

Washington.—Shall we inform the world that the United States is false to its agreements, false to its pledged words. Shall we have it made known to the world over that you must look out for the United States, or it will get the advantage of you? That it is astute, cunning, slippery?

With this vigorous denunciation of the attitude of this country in the Panama canal controversy with Great Britain, Senator Elihu Root closed a two-hour speech in the senate with an appeal for the submission of the Panama question to arbitration, or the repeal of that section of the canal law that would give free passage to American coastwise ships.

Speaking from the experience of a member of President Roosevelt's cabinet when the Panama canal zone was purchased, and when over 25 arbitration treaties were made with foreign nations, Senator Root delivered the most vigorous attack on the present attitude of the United States that has been heard since the Panama controversy arose.

It became known, following the senator's address, that Senator Brandegee, chairman of the inter-oceanic canal committee, will call a meeting within a few days to take up Senator Root's amendment for the repeal of the free-traffic provisions. Led by Senators Root and Brandegee, both of whom opposed the original passage of this provision, a determined effort will be made at this session of congress to change the law before it goes into effect at the canal, so that the cause of the dispute with Great Britain will be removed.

Senator Root declared the United States would violate all its pledges and promises to the world; would be guilty of false pretences in its advocacy of general arbitration, and would proclaim itself indifferent to national honor and integrity if it refused to submit to arbitration or to retreat from the unjust position it had taken.

He declared free coastwise tolls to American ships were illegal, unless the same concessions were made to foreign ships. The claim that the United States had domestic rights over the canal, because it owned the canal zone, constituted a violation of the express guarantee of the United States to Great Britain, he said.

It is not our territory except in trust, he declared. Treaty or no treaty, we have long insisted that the nations of Central America had no right to debar the world from its right of passage across the isthmus. Upon that we based the justice of our entire action, which resulted in our having the canal zone.

The United States had preached arbitration for years. Senator Root declared, and had bought the nations of the world, in season and out of season, to enter into arbitration agreements for the settlement of all disputes.

Are we Pharisees? he cried. Have we been insincere and false? Have we been pretending in all these long years of declaration? Are we ready now to admit that our country, through its presidents and congresses, has been guilty of false pretences, of humbug, of talking to the galleries, of uttering fine words to secure applause?

The instant that an interest is at stake, we propose to falsify every declaration, every promise, by the arrogant insistence that we alone can determine the interpretation of this treaty; that we will refuse to abide by the treaty.

And is the game worth the candle? Is it worth our while to remain in a position, to maintain which we may be driven to repudiate our principles, our professions, and our agreements, for the purpose of conferring a money benefit at the expense of the treasury of the United States on the most highly and absolutely protected industry in the United States—our coastwise shipping?

HELEN GOULD HAS SIMPLE WEDDING

Famous Philanthropist Becomes Bride of Finley J. Shepard

New York.—In the presence of seventy-five relatives and friends gathered in the spacious and flower-decked parlor of Lyndhurst at Irvington-on-the-Hudson, Miss Helen Miller Gould, admired or beloved by thousands of persons whom she has befriended, became the bride of Finley J. Shepard, eastern representative of the Missouri Pacific Railroad, whom she met in the exciting moments of a railroad wreck.

Simplicity was the dominant note of the wedding ceremony, and the great house, which might have been crowded with friends, who would have been glad to have honored the bride, gave admission only to the limited number of relatives and most intimate friends.

Following the wedding, Mr. and Mrs. Shepard remained at Lyndhurst, and will be there for a week, after which they will reside in New York until early in February, when they will leave for a tour of Europe.

Lived by Stealing Cats

Tokio.—Suekichi Shindo, who was arrested in Tokio with five cats in his pocket, stated that since last August he had deceived 370 cats from their homes by means of cats' heads, making a good living by the sale of the skins of the cats.

London.—A fund is being raised for the restoration of Lincoln Cathedral, and already $11,500 is available. The "fingers" chapel has been restored, and the bells have been improved.

London.—A fire which broke out in a chemist's shop at Ipswich was put out by the proprietor spraying the contents of two siphons of soda water upon it.

BAY TERMINAL STILL IN DOUBT

Actual Superiority of Port Nelson is not Yet Finally Established

Ottawa.—Notwithstanding earlier statements to the contrary, one of them made by Hon. Frank Cochrane himself, that Port Nelson had been finally determined upon as the terminus of the Hudson Bay Railway, a decision in this terminal question will not be reached until the report of H. R. Hazen, chief engineer of the road, has been received and considered. This information comes from the Department of Railways.

Mr. Hazen, who has been investigating conditions at both Port Nelson and Fort Churchill since last July, is now on his way to Winnipeg, and from Winnipeg he will come direct to Ottawa. He is expected here in about a month.

At the department it is stated that though Mr. Cochrane had declared Port Nelson to be the choice, he is still open to conviction in favor of Fort Churchill if the results of Mr. Hazen's first hand expert investigation should be such as to warrant a change. From the standpoint of cost of construction Port Nelson is understood to have the advantage over Fort Churchill if the results of Mr. Hazen's first hand expert investigation should be such as to warrant a change.

It is generally understood here that so far construction upon the bay line has been very slow. Weather conditions and other obstacles have been making trouble.

Business in Southern Alberta

Leduc, Alta.—The lumber interests of British Columbia have been making extensive plans to invade the southern Alberta and Saskatchewan territories, and the announcement is made that the Macdonald Lumber Co. of Vancouver, of which Mr. Macdonald is the head, has bought the yards and interests of David Macdonald, at Vancouver, involving $25,000, and also another yard at May Creek, Sask. The company contemplates establishing still another yard at Macleod this spring if business there warrants.

Blairmore is to have a $10,000 brick bonded warehouse, two stories in height, with concrete basement, and equipped with two large elevators, operating from basement to the top story. Work is to commence at the opening of spring, and the building will be ready for occupancy by May 1st. It will be the only modern bonded warehouse in the Crow's Nest Pass. Murphy & Frayer Co., Limited, are behind the project, and the site chosen is close to the C.P.R. tracks.

The Magrath creamery is to be opened early in February, and an expert butter maker has been arranged for through the Dominion government agricultural department. The creamery has first class machinery, but there has not been a sufficient milk supply to warrant an earlier opening of the plant. There is now a visible supply of milk in sight, due to the increase in mixed farming in this vicinity, and the company has harvested a large supply of ice for next season's business. John J. Gibb has been elected president of the association and I. C. Fletcher secretary-treasurer.

READY MADE COLONY SCHEME

Suggested to Form a Complete Colony in New Ontario for Blind Alley Workers

London.—During the last two years there have been outlined possibly a dozen schemes to colonize New Ontario, originating in this country. Most of them have come to nothing, probably for the reason that those who advanced them failed to grasp the difficulties to be overcome.

The latest scheme put forward is to acquire a tract of land in that district, get all the rough work done by contract, and settle a colony of young men of 18 or so under superintendents thoroughly familiar with conditions there. It is proposed to form at one step a complete township with church, doctor and all the requirements of a new settlement.

Prominent educationalists are taking the matter in hand; men who believe that we have in our blind alley workers a problem of first importance. It is said that in London alone there are 100,000 youths working as golf caddies, messengers and at similar work which does not offer a future.

DEFENDS U.S. NAVY

Remarks in Canadian House Arouses Comment in Washington

Washington, D.C.—Great indignation has been created in Washington by the speech of Major Sam Sharpe, in the House of Commons at Ottawa, to the effect that few native Americans sign for the navy, and that those who do are desperate or good socially, morally or otherwise, and finally that the navy becomes a home for degenerates and moral degenerates and deserters from foreign ships.

The speech of Major Sharpe was the topic of conversation in the Army and Navy Club, where the members were vigorous in characterizing Major Sharpe as either uninformed or else malicious. Admiral Dewey, hero of Manila Bay, took occasion to say that the men of the United States navy were of the highest character, morally and physically, and that they were a credit to the United States.

The report for the last fiscal year shows that 96.25 per cent. of the men in the American navy were American citizens, and 99.20 per cent. of all the enlisted force were American born.

Calgary, Alta.—At the annual convention of the United Farmers of Alberta, representing 14,000 farmers of Alberta, a resolution was passed unanimously protesting against the establishment of a sample market in Western Canada.

Geneva.—Swiss prisons are so overcrowded that in three cantons convicts have had to be lodged in the cellars of the town halls.

YIELDS TO THE VICTORS

OTTOMAN EMPIRE DECIDES TO ACCEPT PROPOSALS

Grand Council Finally Agrees to Demands of the Allies in Order to Secure Peace—Question of Indemnity Yet to be Settled, and there may be still Weeks of Negotiations.

Constantinople.—Turkey has submitted to the will of the powers. The Grand Council for the Ottoman Empire decided in favor of accepting the proposals of Europe for a peace settlement between Turkey and the Balkan allies.

The Grand Council approved the Government's point of view, declared its confidence in the sentiments of equity voiced by the great powers, and expressed the wish to see their promises and proposed assistance effectively realized.

It also asked the Government to exert all its efforts to ensure in the future the safety of the country and the development of its economic interests.

One crucial point of difference remains to be settled on the question of indemnity. The allies propose to levy a heavy payment on the defeated nation. They speak of $200,000,000 as an adequate sum. Their minimum is an amount equal to the Turkish debt attached to the territories which they will annex under the treaty.

The Turks are likely to contest the indemnity strongly, and the bankrupt condition of their country furnishes them with a potent argument for an appeal to the powers. The negotiations over the settlement of minor questions and for the taking over of the conquered provinces will occupy a considerable time and it will be some weeks before the treaty is signed.

M. Novakovich, the ex-premier of Serbia, said: "The Turks seem finally to have recovered the faculty of reasoning, but why today instead of six weeks ago, as they must pay for what our six armies have been costing us all this time? We have not yet set down figures for the indemnity but we have practically decided on what basis it is to be calculated and how it is to be divided among the allies."

Each Balkan state will take as a basis the number of soldiers it put in the field, averaging the cost of each soldier during the time the country was on a war footing.

The sooner Turkey concludes peace, the less she will have to pay. The powers must help us in this question also, as the indemnity will be to pay the share of the Ottoman debt setting upon us proportionately to the territories we acquire."

Dr. Danef, head of the Bulgarian delegation, expressed satisfaction when conversed on the probable peace settlement, but he was of the opinion that the negotiations would drag along for several weeks more.

Calcutta.—A dozen brigands with axes broke into and looted the house of Horraband Pandey, at Theria, Bengal, and, after pulling out the teeth of the owner, made off with several hundred pounds' worth of jewels and other property.

MAY OWN HISTORIC SPOTS

Premier Declares in Favor of National Ownership of Famous Sites

Ottawa, Ont.—That there has already been some consideration of a large scheme by which historic spots throughout both eastern and western Canada should become national property, as one means of marking the centenary of peace, was intimated by Premier Borden in receiving an eastern Ontario deputation, which asked the government to take over the remains of old Fort Malden at Amherstburg on the Detroit river.

The Premier pointed out that in addition to the more generally known historic spots in eastern Canada, there were also others in western Canada that in days to come, would have added significance, and that now was the time when action to the end of acquiring them would be wise. He expressed his sympathy with the idea of preserving as an object lesson to future generations, the places where historic happenings had taken place.

Dreadnought for Britain Ordered by Malay States

London.—The superdreadnought the Malay States are presenting the British navy, will be ordered immediately and construction finished as quickly as possible. She will be christened H.M.S. Malay; her displacement will be about 23,000 tons, a considerable advance on the Orion class and her main armament will consist of eight of the new fifteen inch guns and a particularly strong anti-torpedo armament, placed in armored positions.

Melbourne.—William Ilton, an inmate of the Hospital for Incurables at Heidelberg, Australia, after being paralyzed, blind, deaf and dumb for twenty-five years, has suddenly recovered his faculties.

THE MARKET REPORT

Weekly Grain Letter Supplied by Thompson, Son & Co., Grain Merchants, Winnipeg.

Winnipeg, Jan. 21.—The recent advance in wheat prices which began about December 10th and crept gradually upward until it had attained an advance of 6c to 6½c from the low point, culminated on the 15th inst. Since then there has been a decline of ½c to 1½c, and today a reaction of ½c to ¾c, which brings prices to about ½c to 1c under the closing prices of a week ago. While there has continued to be a healthy demand for cash wheat and for flour, the demand is of smaller volume than it was, and the trade in the actual wheat would rather have tended to keep prices down, but a bullish sentiment has possessed a majority of traders in the speculative markets, and speculative buying has been the means of advancing prices. It has been a perfectly natural reaction from the long decline during the fall months in which prices were probably carried below the level warranted by the general situation. For be it remembered that at the beginning of December, neither the Argentine nor the Australian crops were assured as they are today, neither could it be demonstrated

These figures go a long way to explain why we have had high prices for wheat in the last four years. The high prices are the result of the small world's crops of wheat in 1907 and 1908. Patten's wheat corner came in the spring and summer of 1909 when prices in the United States ran from 130c to 160c per bush. The larger crops in 1909 and 1910 had to replenish depleted stocks, and provide for the natural increase in wheat requirements, and then the crop of 1911 while only moderately less than the crops of the two previous years in the aggregate, saw a large shortage in other kinds of grains besides potatoes and root crops, in the United States and in Europe, and there is no doubt that wheat had to be used in large quantities in place of other food stuffs. This brings us to the 1912 crop, the largest on record, and it is accompanied by abundant yields of all other crops, especially on the American continent both North and South. We believe reasonably higher prices would be for the general benefit, and we would like to see them, but the study and consideration of these things do not seem to give good grounds for the expectation of any important advance, except it comes from lessening crop prospects later on. The most we can hope for at present is that values may not recede much from present level, and we don't think they will, for while the trade is somewhat slower than it has been it is still in a good healthy condition.

In our Winnipeg market the cash wheat trade is good. In future deliveries on our option market there is a fair trade; we think most of the traders favor the bull side but there is no large trading in the pit and the crowd follow the changes in the United States markets very closely. There has been a keen demand for the lower grades from No. 4 wheat to feed and although the prices of the higher grades are about ½c down on the week the lower grades are unchanged to 1c higher. Receipts are fairly large in face of severely cold weather.

Today's cash prices are 1 Nor., 82½c; 2 Nor., 79½c; 3 Nor., 76½c; No. 4 wheat, 72c; No. 5, 67c; No. 6, 62c; Feed, 52c; No. 1 Alberta, 83½c; Winter, 83½c; 2 A.R., 80½c; 3 A.R., 77½c. Tough wheat is 6c to 7c under straight grade. Futures closed Jan., 82½c; May, 87½c; July, 88½c.

Oats.—There is a steady demand for oats in face of large receipts at prices ½c to ¾c under last week's. Futures closed May, 35½c; July, 36½c.

Barley.—The demand for barley is good at a little advance on last week's prices. No. 3, 47½c; No. 4, 44½c; Rejected, 40c; Feed, 39c.

Flax.—The trade in flax is steady and demand is fair. Today's cash prices are No. 1 Nor. West, Can., 106½c; No. 2 Can. West., 104c; Futures closed Jan., 106½c; May, 112½c.

All prices quoted above are based on delivery in store Fort William, and Port Arthur.

CHOWFA MAHA VAJIRAVUDH THE KING OF SIAM

Choufa Maha Vajiravudh, born on January 1, 1893, eldest son of the late King Chulalongkorn I, succeeded to the throne on the death of his father in October, 1910, and was crowned in December of the following year. He has had a thorough western education. The royal family of Siam formerly had as tutor Sir (then Mr.) Robert Morant, now chairman of the insurance commission and permanent secretary of the board of education from 1903 to 1911. The crown prince then studied in England under Basil Thomson; and, later, went to Sandhurst and to Christ Church, Oxford. He was also at Potsdam as a cadet; was attached for a time to the Durham light infantry at Aldershot. He is well read in English, German and Siamese literature; has written a volume in French on Siamese folklore; and is known also as playwright and actor.

THE SUNDAY SCHOOL

LESSON V.—FIRST QUARTER FOR FEB. 2, 1913

Text of the Lesson, Gen. vi. 2-12; vii. 1-23.—Memory Verses, Gen. vii. 12-14.—Golden Text, Rom. vi. 23.—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. W. Stearns.

In the end of chapter iv we see the descendants of Cain getting on in the world, building cities, inventing musical instruments, working in brass and iron and improving things generally, but not with the blessing of the Lord, nor any acknowledgment of Him. The outcome of such disobedience is seen in chapter v, 5, 12: All flesh had corrupted his way upon the earth. In chapter v we see the line of Abel or Seth, who took Abel's place as a progenitor of the race, but there is nothing written of any of them on the line of world improvement. It is written of Enoch, the seventh from Adam, and of Noah that they walked with God. (Gen. v. 22, 24; vi. 9), but what it cost them to do so and the worldliness which they condemned by their lives and their testimony may be inferred from Jude 14-16 and Heb. xi. 7.

So it went on, the godly few and the ungodly crowd, for about 1,600 years until the time of our lesson, when God saw that the wickedness of man was great in the earth and every imagination of the thoughts of his heart was only evil continually. He was therefore compelled to change His method with man, remove the race from the earth and begin anew with Noah and his family. God never repents in the sense of changing His mind about anything, for "known unto God are all His works from the beginning of the world" (Num. xxiii. 19; Acts xv. 18). We change our mind and then act differently. God at certain times, before appointing, takes a different line of action, but always know that He would.

These turnings in His mode of procedure are spoken of as His repentings (chapter vi. 6). Nothing has ever taken place on earth or even will take place that God has not foreseen from all eternity and prepared for, and the end He has in view He will surely reach in His time and way in spite of the devil and all his demons and his hosts of human followers. As it was in these first centuries so it has been ever since and will be till the kingdom comes. The world lieth in the wicked one, who is the "ance and root of this world. In matters political, commercial and religious he is the leader, and the crowds unconsciously follow him.

Those who believe and follow Jesus Christ are about like Noah and his family compared with the multitudes. This ark which Noah built was to preserve all who were in it. Joseph's ark was to preserve the bones of his fathers. The ark of the covenant was to preserve the tables of testimony. These are the three arks of Scripture and all suggestive of our Lord Jesus Christ, in whom alone there is safety. As in the story of Cain and Abel, he who accepts God's way is accepted, but the rejecter is rejected. The people who helped Noah to build the ark knew all about the ark, but all perished who were not in the ark. A good knowledge of the Bible will not avail, nor a knowledge of God's plan of salvation nor a knowledge about God and Christ. The sinner must receive Christ or truly come to Him and take refuge in Him. God Himself and He alone was the architect of Noah's ark and of Moses' tabernacle and of the temple of Solomon. They had only to go by the plan. Salvation is of the Lord from start to finish, and the only thing we can do and that God asks of us is accept what He has provided without question. Notice the great invitation in chapter vii, 1: Come thou and all thy house into the ark.

The Lord must therefore have been the first in the ark, and then He called Noah and his family to come to Him. He said concerning Israel: I brought you unto myself (Ex. xix. 4), and His word to us is ever: Come unto Me (Matt. ix. 13). Make a study of His "comes" from here to Rev. xxii. 17. In chapter vii, 16, note that the Lord shut him in. How safe, how restful, shut in with God! We cannot but think of the words: Your life is hid with Christ in God (Col. iii. 3). More than a full year was he shut in (compare chapters vii, 11; viii, 13, 14), but the Lord was with him, and that is true prosperity (Gen. xxxix. 2, 21-23).

The perishing of all people and of all living creatures on the earth (vii. 21-23), points us on to 1 Thess. i. 8, where we read of vengeance on them that know not God and that obey not the gospel of our Lord Jesus Christ when He shall come to be glorified in His saints. He Himself has told us that when He shall come in His glory as the Son of Man the condition of things on earth shall be as in the days of Noah and of Lot (Luke xvii. 26-30). Not when He comes to the air for his church, though things will be bad enough then, are even now, but when He shall come in His glory, bringing His church with Him, according to Col. iii. 4. We are nowhere taught that the world will be converted before He comes again, but that He will come to a world in rebellion and anarchy because of His coming (Isa. lxvi. 15; Rev. i. 7; xl. 18).

Big Rate War May be Declared in Which C.P.R. is Interested

New York.—A special Berlin cable to the American says: A rate war eclipsing all former ones may be declared between the North and South Trans-Atlantic steamship ports in consequence of immigrant line concessions given by Austria to the Canadian Pacific to be operated in competition with Austro-American Line out of Trieste. The scheme of the C.P.R. is said to be to throw every month 20,000 Austrians, Servians, Turks and Montenegrins into America via Montreal, thence by rail to Toronto and the West, as soon as the Balkan situation is cleared.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

How did you like the spring like weather we had for the last five days?

The Hockey Club announce a Carnival for next Wednesday evening, Feb. 5th, with four prizes. For full particulars see posters.

R. Hurd, has just received a splendid lot of samples of cloth from the Crown Tailoring Co. of Toronto, together with the latest Fashion plate. As these samples at the prices quoted are sure to have a rapid sale it would be well for those desiring apparel to call early and secure a wide choice. See advt.

Last Thursday afternoon the Ladies' Aid of the Presbyterian church re-organized their society and elected the following officers: President—Mrs. McCammon Vice-President—Mrs. Gordon Secretary—Mrs. Coffee Treasurer—Mrs. McIntyre

A very interesting meeting was held and it is hoped all the ladies of the church and congregation will assist in making the society a success this year as the objects are worthy of most sincere efforts.

During the past week Chief Roberts has succeeded in ridding the town of at least two undesirable characters. Justice Vigar sending a man named McKenzie to jail for 30 days, for becoming too familiar in taking charge of another man's money and gave another named Sullivan 60 days for vagrancy and creating a disturbance. Chief Roberts and Corporal Irvine appear intent on ridding the town of undesirable characters and they evidently do not believe in ordering them to "move on" to the next town, but in assisting the entire district by placing them in safe keeping.

An Edmonton despatch says that Bishop Stringer, of the Yukon diocese, the largest in the Dominion, who is returning to his post in the north country, announces that Rev. W. H. Fry and 12 natives are on the way to Coronation Gulf, a thousand miles east of Herschel Island, near the mouth of the Copper Mine river, to visit a tribe of white Eskimos discovered by Stefansson, an explorer. It is expected that the party will reach the gulf next October, before the close of navigation. The bishop has no doubt there are other tribes of Eskimos in the far north. He was stationed on Herschel Island seven years and has been as far north as 78 degrees latitude on a whaling trip. At times the thermometer registered 69 below. He has also visited many hitherto unknown places in northern Canada, suffering hardships, and endangering his life of numerous occasions.

H. B. Wilson, manager of the Royal Bank, has resigned his position, and left on Monday for Edmonton to engage in another business. Mrs. Wilson is remaining in Gleichen, visiting friends for a short time. Mr. Wilson has been succeeded by H. G. Lyons, of Conquest, Sask., who took charge of the bank on Monday.

The Agricultural Branch, Department of Natural Resources, Canadian Pacific Railway, Calgary, Alberta, have recently received a few applications for the services of a competent man and wife for work on farms. They will be able to secure such help by reason of their extensive organization in the old country, and if there are any farmers who would like to secure good help from the old country, they are invited to write to the Agricultural branch as above, who will endeavor to secure it. Applicants should state whether English, Scotch or Irish laborers are wanted, whether married men with wives preferred, wages offered and whether the job is for the whole year or for the season only.

On The Bowling Alleys

Some hotly contested matches have recently taken place on the Gleichen Opera House Bowling Alleys.
